

Resources for Audiovisual Producers

The Multimedia Producer's Legal Survival Guide

Charts the multimedia professional's path through the legal jungles. Arms you with information.

Includes companion Macintosh, IBM or Amiga diskette with more than 20 sample agreements, contracts, releases and other legal forms.

"It has the earmarks of becoming the multimedia producer's Bible."

International Interactive
Communications Society Reporter

"It's like having the guide to the minefield."

Charles Wyke-Smith, Founder
Printz Electronic Design Services

International Directory of Interactive Multimedia Producers

(1990-1991 edition)

The essential guide to more than 550 companies and individuals involved in production of personal computer-based audiovisual materials. Includes producers of interactive videodiscs, hypermedia, animation, audio, video, presentations, simulations, promotions and more.

Each company's areas of specialty and experience are listed in detail — more than 270 pages (8.5-by-11) of solid information. Includes indexes to location, specialties, and hardware and software supported.

"Very useful to anyone interested in producing or purchasing multimedia products."

Laserdisk Professional

Subscriptions

Mailed first class in the United States and Canada, air mail overseas.

Please check one (call for education and small business discounts)

- ☐ Mind over Media (24 issues — introductory rate)
☐ Multimedia Computing & Presentations (12 issues)
☐ Combined subscriptions to both reports

	North America	Overseas
--	---------------	----------

	$ 150	$ 190
	$ 349	$ 440
	$ 449	$ 570

- ☐ Please send Update '90 with my paid subscription for only $50 (regularly $99).

- ☐ Check enclosed (payable to Multimedia Computing)

- ☐ Charge my Visa/MasterCard/America Express

Name

Title

Company

Address

City, State, Zip, Country

Phone

Number

Exp. date

Signature

Multimedia Computing Corp. • 3501 Ryder Street, Santa Clara, CA 95051 • Phone (408) 737-7575 • Fax (408) 739-8019

Orders — Call 1-800-229-4750